FREE BACK-To-School Backpack Giveaway PARTY!!!

An Invitation from the Black Men's Health Clinic and Community Partners

AUSTIN (Austin-Metropolitan Area) –

The Black Men's Health Clinic (BMHC) invites you to a Back-to-School Backpack Giveaway Party. This family-friendly event will be held on Saturday, August 12, 2023, and will be filled with food, music, bounce houses, and more!

With the new academic year upon us, kids will have the opportunity to grab backpacks and other school supplies to start their first day strong.

In support of the health and wellness of our community, there will be various providers on site to share information and provide screenings “to know your numbers”.

The Black Men’s Health Clinic will also be taking applications for Central Health's Medical Access Program (MAP) - a health coverage program for uninsured Travis County residents with low income, enabling eligible family members to see a doctor, therapist, and obtain prescribed medicine.

For those interested in MAP, please bring the following documents for EACH household member to complete the application onsite: a photo ID, a birth certificate, a social security card, proof of income, address verification, and any active insurance coverage.

Click here to REGISTER TODAY or go <https://qrco.de/bdB6ob>.

We look forward to seeing you there.

The Black Men’s Health Clinic is proud to work with these collaborating partners to make this event happen: African American Youth Harvest Foundation, Central Health, HC4A, and CommunityCare.

For questions or more information, contact BMHC Communications, as listed above.
